02 Soongsil University

Soongsil University is a private, Christian university located in Seoul, Korea. Since its establishment in 1897 in Pyongyang by an American missionary, Dr. William M. Baird (1862-1931), Soongsil University has played a leading role in the Korean national movement while also serving as a pioneer in the specialization and diversification of Korean education.

Throughout Soongsil University's over one hundred and ten year history, it has endeavored to preserve its founding philosophy of 'Truth and Service.' A philosophy derived indirectly from its name; Soong (崇), roughly meaning revering God with Sil (實), truth and integrity. Starting from its roots in Dr. Baird's residence, Soongsil University strives to make every effort to provide quality education and services to its students, focusing specifically on cultivating global leaders and competent professionals who can lead Korea into the twenty-first century. It is under this guiding principle that Soongsil's tradition is cemented.

Korea and Seoul

Korea

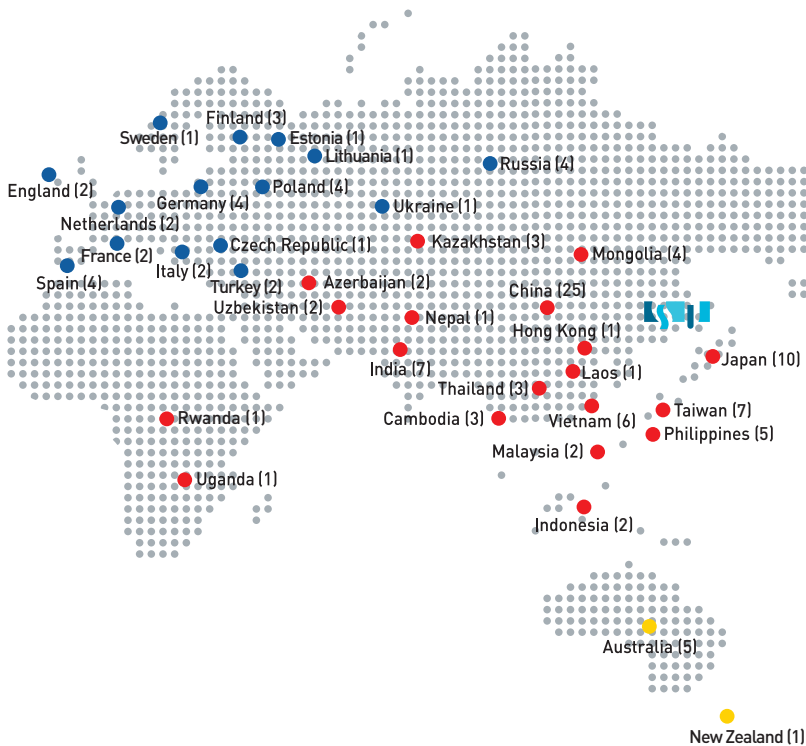

Part of the beauty of Korea is provided by its history. Squeezed as it is between its bigger neighbors, Korea has survived invasions, wars and colonial rule, while remaining fiercely distinct. In modern times, the peninsula was first known as the Hermit Kingdom because of its nineteenth century policy of retreating from foreign investment. It was not until the 1988 Summer Olympics, in Seoul, that Koreans burst into the international scene as a world player. In two short weeks, millions of viewers around the world saw Korea as it is – a modern and vibrant nation, with a long and rich cultural heritage, coming of age as an economic and political power. Today, part of Korea's attraction is its pulsating modernity. In Seoul, the country's capital for 600 years, skyscrapers reach towards the heavens and traffic jams stall the human race below. Yet, South Korea is also a country swathed in green, with numerous mountains scattered across the peninsula.

Seoul

The city was founded in 1394, when it became the capital of the Chosun Dynasty (1392–1910). Traces of the Chosun Dynasty, honored for its cultural achievements and other accomplishments, are still prominent features of the city's landscape and add to the color and charm of this thriving cosmopolitan city. As the financial, political, commercial, recreational, educational, and cultural center of Korea, Seoul is home to major domestic and international corporations, banks, government offices, leading schools and universities, theaters, and entertainment facilities. Thus, Soongsil University's location in Seoul gives students an excellent opportunity to learn about Korea in many different contexts.

☉ Exchange Student Program

Soongsil University accepts students from over 170 international partner universities for up to 2 semesters. The program provides international exchange students with a unique opportunity to continue their current studies at their home university in either English or Korean overseas. In addition, students can take leveled evening Korean language classes and participate in a monthly cultural event both of which aim to help students gain more knowledge and insight into their host country. Finally, with the addition of the Soongsil International Student Association (SISO), international exchange students are well equipped to adjust easily to Korean culture and the hectic pace of life in Seoul and studying abroad.

☉ Dual/Joint Degree Program

Soongsil University offers several dual or joint degree programs with its partner universities in the United States of America; New York State University at Stony Brook, the University of Cincinnati, Towson University, and Washington University; as well as China's Tianjin Normal University, Shandong University of Science & Technology, and Yanbian University. Soongsil University plans to offer more dual or joint degree programs to its students in the near future.

☉ Cultural Exchange Programs

■ Korean Studies Program

Every summer since 1995, about 20 Meiji Gakuin University students have attended a 4-week Korean language program on Soongsil campus. Students from Soongsil are paired with visiting Japanese students and help them understand and learn Korean language and culture better.

■ International Student Seminar

Soongsil University runs an International Student Seminar with three countries and three universities such as Osaka University of Economics & Law (Japan), Fudan University (China), and Far Eastern National University (Russia). All participants are given opportunities to understand current Asian issues, and are exposed to one another's culture through discussions and experiences by visiting two or three of the countries taking part in the program.

■ Soongsil – Cincinnati Program

Honors students from the University of Cincinnati visit Soongsil University for 8 days during the summer break. Along with current Soongsil students, they discuss current issues, attend lectures, and visit industrial and cultural sites, aiming to build stronger ties and understanding between the two nations.

■ Soongsil International Ambassadors (SIA)

Soongsil International Ambassadors are current Soongsil student volunteers, who provide a variety of services to international visitors while they are visiting Soongsil's campus. They assist visitors with transportation needs and provide them with answers to everyday questions such as cultural clarification during their time at Soongsil.

■ Soongsil International Student Organization (SISO)

This organization has been designed to help all exchange students adjust to a new academic environment and Korean culture. It is composed of 40 current Soongsil students, whose main goal is to function as a resource for all international students both on and off campus. They are willing and able to answer all types of questions from obtaining a cell phone to figuring out where classes are on campus, and at your disposal.

Generally, individual courses are graded as follows:

Letter Grade	Grade Point Value	Percentage	Description
A+ / A0 / A-	4.5 / 4.3 / 4.0	100-97 / 96-94 / 93-90	Excellent

■ ASEM DUO scholarship (DUO-Korea)

Established in 2001, the DUO-Korea Fellowship Program was developed to promote exchanges between Korea and European countries on a balanced basis, and thus require two students to be involved in the exchange, one Korean national student from Soongsil and another from a sister university in Europe. Students may either be an undergraduate or a graduate student, who are currently enrolled in the universities participating. Application period is usually mid-April through mid-May for the following year, and allow for only a single semester exchange. See the website for further information on how to apply, however, please be aware that applications must be submitted but Soongsil University's International Relations Office on behalf of the students and both institutes. <http://www.asemduo.org/>

◉ Monthly Cultural Activities

To help you make the most of your experience at Soongsil, we have planned monthly informal hands-on activities for you to get the most out of your stay and engage more in Korean culture and enjoy some of the best of Korea.

◉ Soongsil International Student Organization (SISO)

The SISO was established to help facilitate and provide international exchange students with a more dynamic Korean experience. By separating the organization into four specific teams (planning, on-campus support, off-campus support, and public relations), we are able to provide exchange students with much more precise information, and can then cater and broaden programs as needs arise.
